Ethical Considerations when working with the LGBTQIA2S+ Community

12:00 PM - 01:00 PM EST

Mary Hinson,
pdc@lccnc.org

In this presentation, attendees will explore ethics related to specific working areas with individuals who identify or align with the LGBTQIA2S+ community. Working with LGBTQIA2S+ clients and their families requires practitioners to know multiple ethical codes, legal considerations, and cultural competency standards. Practitioners address issues pertinent to clients, such as homophobia, transphobia, discrimination based on gender or sexual orientation, religious and spiritual beliefs, sexual orientation, self-acceptance, and safety. This presentation will cover applicable codes and cultural competence standards, definitions of gender, gender identity, sex, sexuality, affirmative language use, confidentiality, boundaries, and best practices in ethical decision-making.?

Trauma-Informed Presence in Clinical Supervision

Zoom - Live Webinar

12:00 PM - 01:00 PM EST

Mary Hinson,
pdc@lccnc.org

This presentation will explore trauma-informed supervision, with particular attention devoted to the value of presence in the supervisory sessions and relationship. This trauma-informed supervisory approach is designed to address the emotional and educational needs for clinicians and clinicians-in-training in diverse settings, but is especially beneficial for those supporting clients with trauma and substance use concerns. Due to the comorbid nature of trauma and substance use, both clients and clinicians benefit from trauma-informed supervision in the treatment of substance use disorders. The presenter will provide an overview of key components of trauma-informed clinical supervision in these types of integrated settings and use a case study to highlight the importance of supervision and its impact on the supervisee's ability to provide bedside support to patients in an acute trauma center.
